Let Not Your Heart Be Troubled

Rev. Cherie Larkin

Adapted from Halfway up the Mountain

By Rev. Martha Smock

“Peace I leave with you; my peace I give to you; not as the world gives, give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid.” John 14:27 “Lo I am with you always.” Matthew 28:20

These days it can be easy to feel afraid and even feel overwhelmed about things like inflation, high gas prices, the price of eggs, the stock market, and news reports of humanitarian crises.

If you are concerned or disturbed about something, say these words from the Gospels of John and Matthew over to yourself. Say them and really listen to them. Think of the living Christ Spirit within you speaking to you and through you.

Let not your heart be troubled by injustice or unfair treatment. Give everything over to the Universal Christ Consciousness and know that Spirit is able to set all things right. You cannot judge by outer appearances, but this is the time when you must contribute to the establishment of peace by activating your vision and your faith in God and holding fast to it, holding to your faith in the good, and keeping your heart and mind open to the forgiving, loving, all-powerful blessings of the Christ Spirit.

Let not your heart be troubled. If news reports come to you that are cruel and upsetting; when you hear or read disquieting, fearful things about situations in the world, let these words take away your fear. Get involved by making these reports an opportunity to bless everyone Concerned, to pray for light to be shed into every mind, for love and forgiveness to rule in every heart, for understanding and loving acceptance to replace suspicion and condemnation. Have faith in God and pray for greater faith. You can easily and quickly dismiss negative reports from your own mind, and you can help to erase them and their effects by giving them over to the collective consciousness of the all-powerful, forgiving love of the Christ Spirit.

The peace of Jesus Christ is here right now, in our minds and hearts. The Spirit of justice, truth, freedom, and unity is awake and active, joining us in our common bonds of love for each other and for our world. The power of Christ is working in and through each of us to remake our world. Listen to the words of the master teacher, “Let not your heart be troubled, trust in God; trust also in me.”
